CATALONIA

Diversity, plurality and an impressive list of qualities all help to make Catalonia a land where you feel at home. Or better said. An amazing cultural legacy, a nuance-filled history and a present that is as successful as its future is hopeful all help to make this small region one of the most attractive destinations in the 21st century. Cutting-edge art, culture and, of course, gastronomy blend perfectly with Roman and medieval remains, as well as a unique architecture ranging from Gaudí to Norman Foster.

Catalonia is all in one: Century-old shops, handicraft workshops, design, cutting-edge, fashionable nightspots and the latest trends.

It is also flavour: Blessed by a strategic location, both land and sea form the basis of a singular cuisine revolving around excellent raw materials that the best chefs on the planet have made world famous. The region is home to some of the world's most renowned leading chefs, who have not only been awarded Michelin stars, but also critical and public praise resulting from a visit to any of the world's most famous restaurants located here. It is indeed haute cuisine, but without ignoring the most traditional gastronomy, a return to roots that, combined with the most demanding cutting-edge sensibilities, converts a foodie journey through Catalonia into a unique experience.

But what would fine cuisine be like without the taste of a wine from any of the twelve designation of origin (DO) zones and more than 300 wineries scattered throughout this land, with their formidable wines and landscapes filled with endless vineyards.

And warmth: Catalonia is one big party and everyone is invited, regardless of age, lifestyle or origin. Welcoming and friendly, Catalonia is a land to make great friends and accumulate great memories by discovering the best that this destination has to offer, among which is undoubtedly the warmth of its people.

Catalonia is cosmopolitan: And it is because cities like Barcelona, its capital, clearly prove this, with its open mind and free, fascinating lifestyle extending throughout the entire land. The distances from this capital are very short if you want to discover new landscapes and customs in such magical places as the medieval villages of Lleida, the Terres de l'Ebre or the magnificent beaches lining the Catalan coast. Some of the best can be found along the Costa Daurada, with its immense, lively beaches, while those along the Costa Brava are set within small hidden coves, hugged by rocks and crystalline waters. This is the Mediterranean in its purest state, partnered for 365 days a year by a wonderful ally: its climate. Catalonia can boast of sunshine almost all year round, as well as quality snow so that you can ski the highest peaks of the Pyrenees during winter. And this is an advantage that is hard to beat.

Catalonia is history: A comprehensive, complex mosaic that encompasses Art Nouveau architecture, locally known as Modernisme, Rome's Tarraco, the monastery of Poblet and the Romanesque churches of Vall de Boí, to name but a few, as well as Intangible Cultural Heritage such as the Patum festival, castellers (human towers) and the falles (fire festivals) in the Pyrenees, forming some of the most spectacular World Heritage List events.

And major names: A journey from A to Z accompanied by great geniuses who in one way or another have contributed to the grandeur of Catalonia. Dalí, Picasso, Gaudí and Miró as the main exponents of art and more recently great masters of gastronomy such as Ferran Adrià, Carme Ruscalleda or the Roca brothers. All these figures found their inspiration in this land to create and achieve world fame. Welcome to Catalonia.

BARCELONA

If life is a sum of experiences, then Barcelona provides a good handful of the very best of these to discover personally. A now internationally iconic art nouveau heritage. The popping sound of opening a bottle of cava and toasting with two glasses. A reserved box for two in a unique location. Music, Mediterranean breezes, grape harvests, tapas, century-old wineries. Star-studded chefs. Life itself.

BARCELONA

The challenge of Barcelona is not about making a specific plan, but choosing from all that the city has to offer.

This gateway to Catalonia is an open, cosmopolitan city that is constantly on the move, rich in heritage, trends and leisure activities. And this is no empty phrase, for the proof of Barcelona's vibrancy lies in its endless agenda of events, ranging from opera, classical music or ballet, in theatres such as L'Auditori, Palau de la Música and Liceu, to innovative stage performances or the most cutting-edge music festivals. Art lovers will discover a cultural oasis in the capital, with its more than seventy museums, exhibition centres and art galleries, and foodies are well catered for on a culinary map that ranges from small neighbourhood wineries to large restaurants or street food stalls. Barcelona is for everyone.

At a very short distance away from the capital, design and asphalt give way to extraordinarily beautiful landscapes, such as the mysterious mountain of Montserrat and its famous monastery, whose virgin presides over and blesses Catalan lands from her altar. Nature was especially generous with this piece of land, as it located places like Montseny at less than an hour's drive away from the Catalan capital.

Some of the most renowned wine-growing areas in the region are also very close by, where wines from the Alella, Pla de Bages and Penedès designation of origin zones are produced nestled between the sea and mountains.

Barcelona's prime location allows it to offer an inexhaustible list of essential plans for all tastes, from sailing, enjoying a theatrical performance, attending a Formula 1 race, aimlessly wandering through the heart of its most traditional neighbourhoods or enjoying a football match of one of the world's best teams. Barcelona is vast, and this can be seen not only in its unique architectural grid design, but also in everything that surrounds it.

DON'T MISS

Architecture is undeniably one of Barcelona's greatest headline attractions. The city we know today could not be understood without the heritage of such great Modernista architects as Gaudí, Puig i Cadafalch and Domènech i Montaner. Their legacy is today visited by thousands of people from around the world and includes such works as the Sagrada Família, Park Güell or Hospital de Sant Pau, as well as La Pedrera, Casa Vicens or Bellesguard Gaudí. All of these are unique, almost organic architectural works whose unusual beauty know no borders and are featured on a host of covers. We can assure you that it is no wonder.

GIRONA AND COSTA BRAVA

With a good handful of sparkling Michelin stars, unexplored coves, untouched medieval villages and a particularly fertile land, Girona has it all, and furthermore, it is all good quality. Made up of a rugged landscape mix of mountains and coastline, Girona not only surprises travellers, but also enamours them with its seafaring spirit and endless list of possibilities. Nothing is impossible here.

GIRONA AND COSTA BRAVA

When Salvador Dalí fell head over heels in love with the Empordà, he decided it would become not only his place of inspiration, but also his place for life.

And it was here, halfway between Cadaqués and Portlligat, where this Surrealist genius championed the landscapes of this area, a place where forests meet the sea. The Costa Brava at its most artistic and seafaring.

But because man does not live by the sea alone, although he indeed could, we will continue to squeeze out all the good things that Girona offers until we come across the medieval magic that emanates from towns such as Monells, Pals, Peratallada or Tossa de Mar, whose historic walls have been recounting legends for centuries. And also concealing them.

Not only there, but also in the city of Girona, which alongside innumerable attractions is home to one of Europe's best-preserved Jewish quarters. But back to the Costa Brava, and similarly the origins of this land, the traces of the past whisk us back to the time of the Iberians, who left behind their special legacy in towns like Ullastret. The Greeks, and later the Romans, also felt right at home here, in a land where they would establish their northern capital of the Iberian peninsula in Empúries.

A rich past has given way to an unstoppable present, as shown by the inexhaustible list of activities that the Costa Brava boasts. Perfectly allied with the Mediterranean, this area is an ideal place to practice sports such as scuba diving, sailing or water skiing. But wait, there is more. Its incredible diversity of landscapes and pleasant climate throughout the year help to extend this range of activities to action sports such as jet skiing or hydroboarding. While Caldes de Malavella is home to PGA Catalunya Resort, the best golf course in Spain according to World Golf Awards.

DON'T MISS

Girona is a land of muses, magic and charm. It not only dazzled Dalí (and Gala), but also inspires some of the world's best chefs to locate their gastronomic headquarters in these parts. Michelin-star haute cuisine is the hallmark of Girona and the Costa Brava, so too the most homemade, traditional food. Its Mediterranean coastline provides excellent seafood, including the famous anchovies of L'Escala. While inland, olive trees and vineyards have helped to list the Empordà as a protected designation of origin zone for oil and DO zone for wine. Pure products for authentic, uncontrived cuisine, just like the land itself.

COSTA DAURADA

At this point, our five senses are needed to appreciate all that is to come. But first, let us begin at the beginning. In broad terms, a fascinating architectural legacy handed down by the Roman Empire. Right down to the very smallest detail, a plain filled with citrus and olive groves. And a sun lounger too. Something as local as castellers (human towers). Candyfloss and roller coasters. A glass of organic wine among vineyards. Fire and calçots (roasted onion shoots). And at an even more playful level, the PortAventura World theme park, a fun destination for the entire family. Keep adding and continue.

COSTA DAURADA

You don't have to be a shrewd historian to realise that the Romans certainly had good taste.

No wonder that throughout their entire empire, they decided here was the best place to found Tarraco, a city that became the capital of the largest province in the Roman Empire: Tarraconensis. It fortunately enough today still contains some of the world's best preserved Roman ruins: amphitheatre, forum, walls and circus, all of which are now listed as UNESCO World Heritage Sites alongside other elements of this former Roman metropolis.

But this Roman heritage is not only limited to its architecture. For in this fertile land, close to the sea and blessed by sunshine for most of the year, extensive fields of vines were planted that have led to a variety of wine-growing areas.

One highlight of these is the prestigious Priorat area, home to the only qualified designation of origin (DOQ) zone in Catalonia, as well as the Montsant designation of origin (DO) zone.

And from here we move to liquid gold. The best wines combined with the olive oil of DO Siurana, which is produced in the surroundings of the picturesque town of Siurana, perched on a rocky promontory. Continuing on this endless gastronomic journey, it is worth mentioning calçots (a variety of onions used to make one of Catalonia's most traditional dishes), as well as the fish that arrive every day at Cambrils harbour to be freshly served at your table.

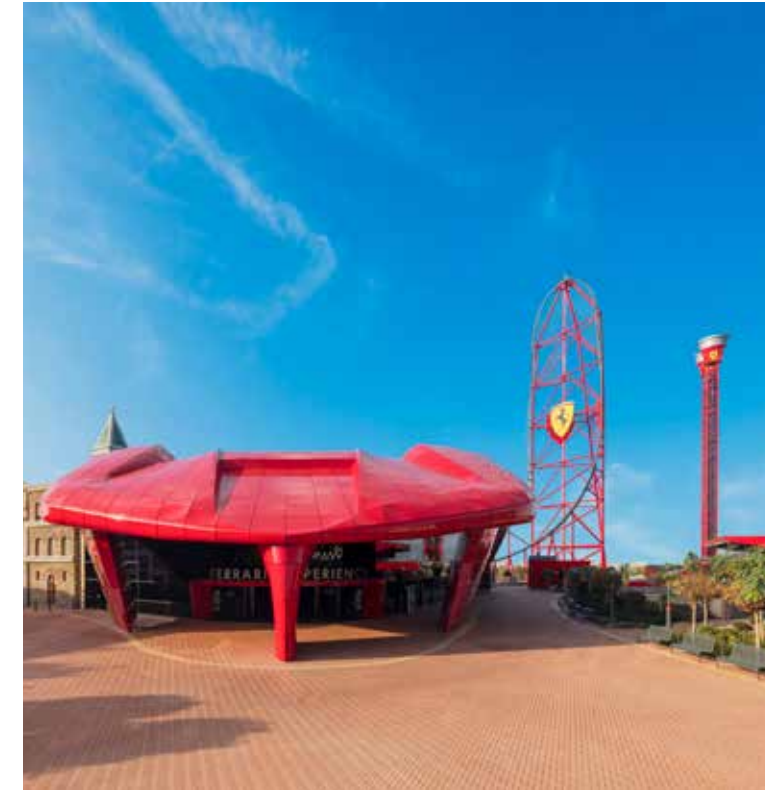

Both of these products position the Costa Daurada among the best destinations for beachside Mediterranean cuisine.

While inland, the scent of incense invites us to meditation as we embark on a journey through history that surrounds the medieval monasteries of the Cistercian Route: Santes Creus, Poblet, which is also a World Heritage Site, and Vallbona de les Monges, located in the land of Lleida.

DON'T MISS

If culture, gastronomy, heritage, landscape and history are not enough, this destination also offers an extra dose of adrenaline with the most popular leisure park in the region: PortAventura World leading the field. This resort combines fabulous amusement parks and 6 themed hotels. Attractions, shows and surprising catering areas. A place that surpasses and reinvents itself each season. The latest addition to the complex is Ferrari Land, a new theme park dedicated to the prestigious Italian racing team, which opened its doors for the first time in Europe.

CATALAN PYRENEES

And if there is no stopping this adventure beside the beach, it similarly continues on the peaks of Catalonia's most important mountain range: the Pyrenees. The legacy of the region's most important Romanesque art has existed together here for centuries alongside ski resorts, traditions, bubbling relaxation, steam and wellness activities, or a fireside dinner with local cold meats and artisanal cheeses.

CATALAN PYRENEES

A journey that starts at sea level and ends almost touching the heavens in order to visit Catalonia at its greenest in summer and at its whitest in winter.

This can be found in the mountain range of the Catalan Pyrenees and its list of attractions is, of course, long: from the emblematic mountain of Pedraforca to the volcanic landscapes of La Garrotxa (over which you can go hot air ballooning at dawn), from Cap de Creus to Val d'Aran. The charm of the past is preserved in this extremely important area, the same charm that has enchanted artists and painters throughout history, such as Pablo Picasso, who found his muses among the beauty of these mountains. A place whose luxury is silence and savouring the best traditional cuisine in an intimate atmosphere by the warmth of a fireplace, with a glass of wine in hand and pure air all around.

The western Pyrenees contain the only national park of Catalonia, Aigüestortes i Estany de Sant Maurici, home to more than 200 lakes and extraordinary biodiversity.

The beautiful force of nature can be felt in this park, which is perfect for hiking almost all year round. The Catalan Pyrenees are also a top destination to practice adventure sports. Here you can climb the highest peak in Catalonia, Pica d'Estats, soar in a hot air balloon, go mountain biking or be daring and go rafting on the Noguera Pallaresa, the best whitewater river in the Iberian Peninsula. And in winter, skiing and snowboarding are practised in some of Catalonia's 16 alpine and Nordic ski resorts, such as Baqueira Beret, one of the most prestigious ski resorts in Europe.

The countless number of things you can do in the Pyrenees also include inland activities, such as the wellness programmes offered by mountain hotels that comprise relaxation, fine living and local cuisine, all without any unnecessary pretensions. For there is nothing pretentious here.

DON'T MISS

The history of Vall de Boí, one of the most historical valleys in the Catalan Pyrenees, dates back to the 11th and 12th centuries, when the bishop of Roda d'Isàvena consecrated the churches of Santa Maria de Taüll and Sant Climent de Taüll. It was a prolific period of 200 years during which not only two iconic Catalan Romanesque structures were built in the valley, but also a total of eight churches and a shrine, an architectural legacy that UNESCO declared a World Heritage Site ten centuries later. The determination of this bishop and the lords of Erill la Vall to bring the best of the Lombard Romanesque, imported from the north of Italy, to these lands led to suitable rewards in the form of these temples, whose functions not only focused on calling the faithful to mass, but also to use the churches as watchtowers to guard the territory. They are the biggest tourist attractions in the valley today. There are also two other traditions that are listed as Intangible Cultural Heritage alongside this architectural ensemble: the falles, a festival featuring fire that is celebrated in various towns in the Catalan Pyrenees in summer and on winter solstices, and the Patum, which has been celebrated in Berga during Corpus Christi since the 14th century, comprising various dances of mystical, symbolic figures.

TERRES DE LLEIDA

Fields full of fruit trees presided over by an elegantly imposing cathedral from the heights of the city. Lleida is tradition, simplicity and a return to origins that help us to discover the simple things of life, those we most appreciate but are sometimes forgotten: pa amb tomàquet (tomato-rubbed bread) and olive oil. Strolling through vertiginous gorges. Thousands of stars in the sky. Pilgrim routes. Landscape.

Mont - Rebei gorge, Terres de Lleida

TERRES DE LLEIDA

Something is being done very well lately on the banks of the Segre.

Lleida is quietly becoming a mini paradise for contemporary creators, with such exceptional buildings as the Palau de Congressos and multipurpose centres such as La Panera or Museu d'Art Jaume Morera.

A breath of fresh air in contrast to the medieval Lleida of its Seu Vella, which today overwhelmingly maintains this magnificence that once repelled attacks and now attracts curious onlookers. But we must not forget the city's great classic sights, such as La Seu Vella, which was initially a cathedral and then a military fortress. The capital is a gateway to a vast range of possibilities, as it is located in the largest agricultural area in Catalonia. Three designation of origin zones can be found in this territory, which is carpeted by fruit trees, vineyards and olive trees: DO Protegida Pera de Lleida for pears, DO Costers del Segre for wine, and DO Protegida Les Garrigues for olive oil. Products served at a table that is supplied by the best gastronomy in the land. And there is even more. Lleida also has an impressive legacy of medieval castles in the form of Castell de Gardeny, which served the soldiers of the Knights Templar. You have to head up to the Pyrenees to discover other medieval structures, such as the castle of Montsonís or convent of Vallbona de les Monges. On the banks of the river Noguera Ribagorçana, Congost de Mont-rebei claims to be one of the most impressive, vertiginous places in Catalonia. The outlines of this gorge can be seen either on a walking tour or from another angle by kayaking on the river.

DON'T MISS

When night falls, the skies of the Serra del Montsec unfurl their very best attraction, for we are in a certified starlight reserve, which means that this area is among the best in the Peninsula for astronomical observation. The town of Àger, located in the heart of the Montsec range, is an internationally renowned location to practice air sports such as paragliding and hot air ballooning. It is also a major bird-watching centre.

TERRES DE L'EBRE

Rice fields and salt flats. A canoe and the Ebro river delta. Ancient landscapes. A lone lighthouse. Binoculars. Hundreds of flamingos painting the horizon pink. A hand-woven basket. Whitewashed façades. A sunset with your feet in the sand. Fresh seafood washed down with the best garnatxa wine. The Delta offers a simple return to roots that will make you feel like staying for life.

Flamingos in the Ebro Delta Natural Park, Terres de l'Ebre

TERRES DE L'EBRE

This is a land of air, water, salt and sand. Its extraordinary landscapes were listed as a biosphere reserve and constitute a place of peaceful coexistence between man and nature in its purest state.

Extensive rice fields coexist with unique wetland areas of acknowledged international ornithological importance on the banks of the Ebro's final stretch as the Iberian Peninsula's second-longest river flows into the Mediterranean.

Located some three hours from Barcelona, although truly comprising a world of its own, the dramatic change represented by this Catalan county before the astonished eyes of visitors is truly astonishing, as they view a completely flat and swampy landscape full of magnificent rice fields.

A mix of farmland, bird sanctuary and oasis for city people eager to escape the overpopulation of other coastal areas, the Ebro Delta provides a totally different world that combines isolated beaches, pink flamingos, people windsurfing and many top quality food items, such as eels, oysters and tasty Ebro mussels.

But not everything here is about landscape. Deep-rooted authenticity and tradition can be seen in many towns of the Terres de l'Ebre that manage to conserve their artisanal traditions. One of the most highly valued of these is terrissa (baked clay), given that its production dates back to the Iberian and Muslim eras. Vegetable fibre and basket weaving are two other very characteristic activities in this area.

The Ebro has given it all to this land to become the backbone of its development. It was here, before many visitors eager to discover this land today, that many cultures had already passed throughout history to leave their legacy in places such as Miravet, Tortosa or Horta de Sant Joan. And, of course, art. Pablo Picasso became enamoured of this last town and spent two long periods of time living and painting there.

DON'T MISS

A boat ride to muscleres, the farms where mussels and oysters are grown, to taste them as the sun sets is a unique experience to be had in the Terres de l'Ebre. And while on the subject of dining, some of the most typical recipes of this area's cuisine are based on rice, rockfish and molluscs, all of which are of exceptional quality in the Delta area. Its inland territory produces wines from the DO Terra Alta, a grape growing area where large Modernista wineries, popularly referred to as "cathedrals of wine", were built.

EXPERIENCES

It is truly amazing how a small territory like Catalonia can contain so many contrasts. Catalonia is inspiration, emotion and feeling in each and every one of the possibilities in its territory.

Experience one of the most deep-rooted traditions while visiting the monastery of Montserrat and its mysterious location. Hunger will take hold after your hike, so the time has come to try some of the artisanal products of the area, such as cheese and honey.

Feel the speed, movement and life while travelling across the Empordà in a four-wheel drive accompanied by the botanist consultant of the restaurant El Celler de Can Roca, twice voted the world's best.

Discover the Mediterranean in its purest state along the coastline paths that run across it, as well as the most delightful coves in the area, and do so by hiking through these endlessly beautiful nooks and crannies.

GASTRONOMY

EL PALACE BARCELONA

***** GL

Wow is a common refrain upon entering the El Palace Barcelona, that in 2019 celebrated its 100th Anniversary. Interiors have a soft tone, while marble colonnades and crystal chandeliers sparkle like they did in the 1920s. The 120 rooms and suites embody the hotel's signature neoclassical-inspired, elegant style. You're a stroll away from Passeig de Gràcia, a shopping area with Gaudi's landmarks.

Amar Barcelona Restaurant: Amar Barcelona embodies the love and passion which El Palace Barcelona and the renowned chef Rafa Zafra have for Barcelona, the Mediterranean Sea, Catalan culture, the local seafood, and gastronomy. Dishes are an homage to Mediterranean culture, with delicious sea products along with a selection of classic Catalan dishes

Rooftop Garden: Inspired by the romantic garden of Francesc Cambó's palace, as well as the paintings of the modernist painter Ramon Casas, the Rooftop Garden is an oasis in the heart of vibrant Barcelona with panoramic views over the city.

Bluesman Cocktail Bar: Descend into Bluesman Cocktail Bar and you are immediately transported to another era, surrounded by elegant decorative details found in the most-exclusive speakeasy. Noble woods, sumptuous velvets, and amber tones envelop this vintage English-style cocktail bar with original distillates of the 1920s and live music.

The Hall: The elegance of the historical great hall makes it the perfect place to meet, to taste the traditional afternoon tea with piano live or to admire the art exhibitions while enjoying a delicious meal.

Mayan Luxury Spa: Inspired by Mayan culture, the Spa is where mind, body and soul become one, combining sounds, rituals, and traditional Mayan treatments with the French exclusive and prestigious luxury cosmetics brand Anne Semonin.

HOTEL NERI RELAIS & CHÂTEAUX

Located in the heart of the Gothic Quarter, and surrounded by the old Jewish Quarter, Hotel Neri Relais & Châteaux is situated in two historic buildings, one of them being a magnificent 12th-century medieval palace, from which the old courtyard was recovered, and the sgraffito found restored, considered one of the most important in Barcelona.

Neri, the first boutique hotel of the Gothic Quarter, is a true reflection of Barcelona's history and soul located in the famous Plaça de Sant Felip Neri. Plaça de Sant Felip Neri, in a secluded corner of the Gothic quarter, is one of the city's most picturesque and romantic squares. Its location is steeped in history, with the Església Sant Felip Neri; the Baroque church in which Gaudí used to come to pray daily, and Gothic buildings which were moved and reconstructed stone by stone in the mid-20th century.

Hotel Neri Relais & Châteaux has been awarded the distinction of "Hotel Monument", a specialisation of the Hotels Association that recognises hotels that add value to the city's heritage. The design of our boutique hotel blends with relaxing music and delightful aromas to create a unique and sensual atmosphere. The Neri is a hotel with a private terrace for its guests, perfect for enjoying the city's warm climate.

The hotel has 22 rooms and suites with large windows, balconies, and terraces. Chic, comfortable and elegant, our Classic rooms are graciously appointed in neutral tones overlooking the Gothic quarter streets.

MASTINELL CAVA & BOUTIQUE HOTEL

A striking 5-star hotel next to Mas Tinell Vineyards, Cava & Hotel is set just outside Vilafranca del Penedès.

It features innovative architecture and an amazing structure resembling a collection of stacked wine bottles with a Gaudí-esque, mosaic-tiled roof.

The hotel won the "Architecture Gold Medal" award for best design, in Shanghai in 2011.

Its contemporary rooms reflect the inside of a wine bottle, featuring a circular window with a mesh, bubble-like façade looking onto the vineyards.

The Valderrama family acquired Mastinell from a French company and now the winery and hotel has completed its transformation.

It has become a leader in its field thanks to the enhancement of the Penedès region; the production of high-quality cavas and wines using traditional processes; innovative technologies used only to preserve the complete integrity of the grapes, and a range of wine tourism and cuisine that is unique in the region.

Feeling like a wine expert for a few days, discovering and participating in the cava and wine production process and enjoying gourmet wine tastings are just a few of the possibilities offered by Cava & Hotel Mastinell.

EL CELLER DE CAN ROCA THE HOLY TRINITY

The collective genius of the Roca brothers is well documented. The holy trinity of head chef Joan's thoughtful but original cooking, pastry chef Jordi's imagination-defying desserts and sommelier Josep's beautifully considered wine pairings already adds up to significantly more than the sum of its parts, before you add the vibrant family dynamic and deep sense of hospitality.

But, according to The World's Best Restaurants, the reason this 55-seater contemporary Catalan restaurant has twice made the top of its world list is the trio's equal brilliance in ensuring that they never stop feeding their own (and their team's) knowledge and creativity.

A meal in the peaceful, glass-walled dining area is both comforting and gastronomically challenging, the food simultaneously traditional and technical, with references to both the artisan and the avant-garde. Crucially, this is a restaurant that has never forgotten its humble roots, its sense of family warmth, or the need to serve remarkably delicious dishes and outstanding wines.

LES COLS RESTAURANT BY FINA PUIGDEVALL

Since May 1990, Fina Puigdevall has been managing the Restaurant Les Cols d'Olot, as well as being both owner and chef at this establishment which lies in the mountain range that gives it its name, and where she was born.

Fina Puigdevall's cooking conveys a great deal with just a few elements. When creating dishes, she likes to remove everything she considers to be non-essential without losing the fundamental poetry of the combination of ingredients.

It is a light and essential style, stripped down but generous, conveying sincerity, balance, austerity and a natural feel. It is a style of cooking which reflects her own philosophy of life: authentic and exciting with imagination, intuition and sensitivity.

It conveys sincerity, balance and austerity in an authentic and exciting way.

BRUGAROL EXPERIENCIES

The essence of Brugarol is the land and with it its agriculture and forests. Our philosophy is based on conservation, culture, commerce, and community; these are the values we stand by.

Our group is based on a circular economy that promotes farm to table with seasonal and sustainable products; we have our own orchards, sheep & goat herd, millennial olive trees and vineyards that help us produce cheese, olive oil and wines among other products.

Finca Bell-Lloc is sheltered by Gavarres mountains, that give a sense of peace and calmness, just minutes away from the acclaimed beaches of Costa Brava. At Finca Bell-Lloc you can hike to the Vila Romà castle or take a stroll into the forest. To this wonderful setting, we add our wine cellar.

The magnificent winery of Celler Brugarol, situated in a region of wine-cultivation where the native and much appreciated vines are grown, has been built hidden underground, below the vineyard. These underground chambers take us into the mysteries of the winery, discovering the process of wine and a universe of light and shadow created by RCR architects.

There is a place near Girona that is beautiful; a world apart, surrounded by forests, good views and many stories to tell. Mas Las Heras it's wildly aristocratic; it opens the doors of its ancient farmhouse to recover an ancestral way of life and reconnect with nature and the most essential things in life. At Mas Las Heras time moves slowly and quietly, and helps us see life from a perspective of serenity.

Finca Bell-Lloc: sleep among vineyards.

CAN RÀFOLS DELS CAUS

Can Ràfols dels Caus is a project that maintains the essence of its creator, a fight for the invisible, to bet on what we don't perceive, but we know exists and that leads us to make noble, elegant, authentic and differentiated wines with the aim of exciting the people who taste them. For this reason, our team not only fights for the invisible taking into account the production of the different wines, but also does it in terms of values and awareness.

The cellar built into the rock is one of the most unique and attractive in Europe and allows us to understand how this property has lived in harmony with its surroundings for two thousand years. It is a show of respect for a unique environment of high landscape value, with an architecture inherited from a historical past.

The Masia of Can Ràfols dels Caus has a thousand-year history where we can find architectural elements that testify to the Roman origin of this property.

In 1979 Carlos Esteva took over the property which was in a practically dilapidated state. The restoration of the farmhouse became a life project that continues to this day.

The summer dining room, the original oven from the s. XVII, the fireplace on the floor and the economical kitchen are the spaces that best bear witness to our history. All these spaces are available to live a unique experience.

Carlos Esteva knew how to convey it perfectly:
“Exceptional wines have this thing that goes far beyond what we are able to perceive with our eyes, nose and palate. You must fight for the invisible.”

FINCA VILADELLOPS

Finca Viladellops is not only a winery with tanks and barrels, it is a village in which, its owner Marcelo Desvalls bet strongly for wine tourism based on three major vertices: history, landscape and wine culture. A Mediterranean project, sustainable and 100% organic (it is organic since 2005).

A property with more than 1,000 years of history where to live "Eno-cultural" experiences. Finca Viladellops, with 60 hectares of organic vineyards, located in the heart of the Penedes, [Garraf], 10 min drive from Sitges and 40 from the center of Barcelona, offers a 360° experience offering visits, tastings, activities, gastronomy and accommodation.

Our visits based on the culture and history of the place and the elaboration of our wines, make the experience unique for its singularity.

At Finca Viladellops we will visit the 1877 winery, where our wines have been produced for 25 years, in which we seek to transmit the typicality from native varieties such as Garnacha for the reds and Xarelo for the whites. We will visit and explain the vineyards, the XIII Century Hermitage, the XI Century Tower and the "Centro de Interpretación de la Familia Desvalls" where there are deposited more than 4.000 parchments with more than 800 years of history. We will finish our visits with a premium wine tasting. All at Finca Viladellops.

We offer different types of experiences in the vineyard, whether on foot, 4x4, segway, etc. In addition to our daily visits, we work according to the needs of our customers. Our team, composed of sommeliers and certified guides, speak Spanish, English, French and German.

We have different villas for holiday rentals, where you can stay for short or long periods. All of them are different and exclusive. The capacity: from 6 to 20 people, all with swimming pool.

There is also a B&B with 5 rooms and swimming pool, a charming place in the center of Finca Viladellops.

GRAMONA SINCE 1850

To visit Gramona is to travel back 150 years into history, allowing you to discover the past, present and future of quality sparkling wines.

A walk through the vineyards helps us to discover the world of biodynamics in surroundings where the splendour of animal and plant biodiversity is shown in a landscape of vines. Then, a visit to Celler Batlle shows, step by step, how the fruit from the vineyards is worked on with the newest technology.

The journey continues in the cellars, allowing us into a world where we continue to work manually in the traditional way.

The final touch is a tasting of our best still wines and sparkling wines, with the knowledge of our private sommelier. They can also be paired with a select food menu made with local products.

CASA VICENS GAUDÍ

Casa Vicens Gaudí is the first important work of the architect, makes available to the visitor one of the key pieces of Gaudí's artistic career: the work that marked his point of departure, an architectural gem which was declared a World Heritage Site in 2005.

Constructed between 1883 and 1885 by order of Mr. Manel Vicens, Casa Vicens is one of the first masterpieces of Modernism, the anticipation of the later work of Gaudí and a vivid example of the airs of aesthetic renewal that were breathed at the end from the 19th century to all of Europe.

Originally, it was projected as a summer house with a garden, in which geometric shapes and rich ornamentation, inspired by the surrounding vegetation, are present both in the exterior of the house and in its different interior spaces.

GAUDI'S CRYPT IN COLONIA GÜELL GAUDI'S BEST KEPT SECRET

Gaudí's most hidden treasure is the Crypt he designed for the Colonia Güell, a 19th century modernist textile colony, just 20 minutes away from Barcelona. The crypt is an atypical example of architecture built with colored materials and similar textures to the soil and vegetation. It is the piece that served as a test laboratory for the Sagrada Família, and as Gaudí himself said "if it had been finished it would be a monumental model of the expiatory temple". It was declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in July 2005 and has the Biosphere tourism sustainability certification. Colonia Güell was one of the largest industrial complexes in Catalonia, with unique and beautiful buildings created by the modernist architects at that period of time. Many people worked and lived here, which makes the village full of history.

It offers visitors a wide variety of tourist services, including guided tours, audio guides, private tours and events after opening hours... and other general services, such as rest areas and parking for cars and buses.

TORRE BELLESGUARD ANTONI GAUDÍ

The Torre Bellesguard by Antoni Gaudí, a genuine masterpiece to be discovered.

The Torre Bellesguard is one of the most unknown works of Antoni Gaudí, which can be visited without queues or crowds.

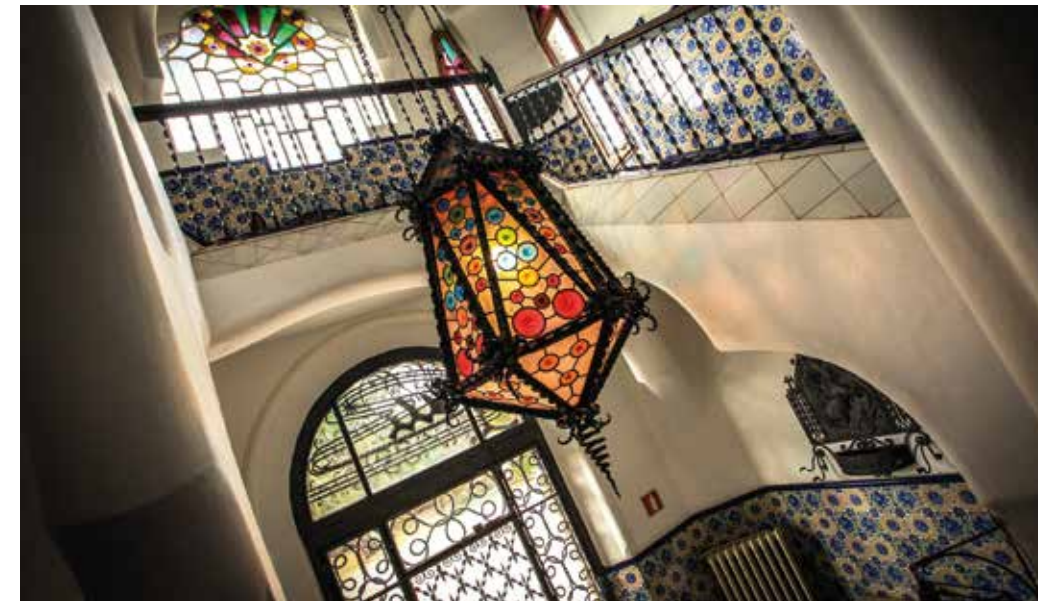

Of all Antoni Gaudí's works, the Torre Bellesguard is the one with the longest history. The land on which it rises became a royal residence and a papal residence in the Middle Ages.

Over the centuries many renowned figures have come together in Bellesguard, famous people and events from bygone eras which have all left their mark on this small plot of land, full of traces and memories.

This history inspired Antoni Gaudí to create his unique masterpiece in Bellesguard. Architecturally mid-way between Gothic and Art Nouveau, the building is imbued with symbolism and allusions to the past. It is embraced by beautiful gardens where you can lose all sense of time and bathe in the essence and magic of Gaudí's least famous but most fascinating work.

The most exclusive Gaudí.

LA GASTRONÒMICA

La Gastronòmica is about wine, cuisine, health, collaboration and awakening the senses. Each service requires a high degree of involvement, during which detail and interaction with diners are the backbone of the experience.

We offer active tourism from Empordà to the world, across borders, to explain where we come from, what we have to offer (wine, fresh produce, landscape...) and who we are. We make audacious proposals with a marked humanistic value.

Our sensitivity towards the land, our culture and sustainability is palpable in each of our actions. We use gastronomy, music, theatre, poetry and must more.

We share knowledge and explain wine culture while making souls move. We give wine a voice and it arouses our emotions. We seek to explain and convey the region in an easy, straightforward, educational and enjoyable way.

LUPU is a luxury leather goods firm established in the early XX century. Since its beginning the brand bets on tradition, craftsmanship, and quality.

Lupo is architecture, art, conscious luxury, effortless elegance. Its designs of fluid lines capture the contemporary, Mediterranean and modernist soul of the city of Barcelona and at the same time creates its own rules by fusing craftsmanship and technology. More than fashion, Lupo represents with freshness the timelessness of pieces created with care and savoir-faire.

The Abanico, the brand's iconic bag that received the Best Design Award in 2001 at the MiPel fair in Milan, is still the brand's best-seller. It is followed by other collections such as La Pedrera and Lady Fuster, inspired by the relevant details of Antonio Gaudi's modernist masterpiece. An emblem of craftsmanship, sophistication and avant-garde.
